When you receive your decals, first thing to do is to take some tape and tape your decals up against the wall in a nice warm climate. This will help relax out the curl from being rolled up from shipment in tube. Depending on how warm your environment will determine how long to leave your decals hanging. This is not necessary, but makes for an easier install later. This process relaxes out the paper backing, the paper backing is removed before an actual install which is why this step isn't absolutely necessary but it sure doesn't hurt to do it, and your install person will appreciate it.
